

Biographical Sketch (91 words)
Robert M. Hazen – June 2017

Robert M. Hazen, Senior Staff Scientist at the Carnegie Institution of Washington's Geophysical Laboratory and the Clarence Robinson Professor of Earth Sciences at George Mason University, received the B.S. and S.M. in geology at the Massachusetts Institute of Technology and the Ph.D. at Harvard University in Earth science. He is also Executive Director of the Deep Carbon Observatory. A Past President of the Mineralogical Society of America, Hazen's recent research focuses on possible roles of minerals in the origin of life, mineral evolution, and the coevolution of the geosphere and biosphere.